My friends suggested different movies like sitcom, horror, and drama, for a while we thought but we couldn't choose so we decided to go to cinema next week, so we couldn't watch anything.

Then Serhat started to talk, one day I and my friend decided to see "Avengers" many people advised this movie. While we were watching the movie we were so excited that we couldn't realize how our popcorn was salty, but it wasn't a problem because the movie was very fascinating. A group of heroes was saving the world. They were very successful and impressive. We recommend this movie to all our friends.:)))
